

THE FACE OF Implant Dentistry

HAMILTON DENTAL DESIGNS

It was inevitable that Jose A. Gil, DMD, would be drawn to dentistry; his family includes several generations of dentists. It was also a very natural attraction: "I'm most comfortable working with my hands, I tend to be very detail oriented and I love developing relationships and helping people," he explains.

Hamilton Dental Designs, Dr. Gil's practice, is a comprehensive, high-quality dental office, but his real passion is implant dentistry. Once cutting-edge technology, implants today are the standard of care. "They're now easier and more predictable to place and restore than ever before, especially with the precision of our 3D imaging system," he says. "We have the ability to take our patients through the entire implant process in one location, from treatment planning to surgery to placement of the final crown." That's a real benefit.

Dr. Gil and his small, hand-picked staff do their utmost to make the experience as luxurious as possible. Dental chairs that deliver a light massage and TVs mounted on the ceilings mean that patients can just kick back and relax.
